Regulation 9 Code of Conduct

1. Aims and Rationale

- 1.1 University employees provide high-quality services to the Council, Academic Board, Colleges, staff, students, and Vice-Chancellor, to assist them to fulfil the University's Vision, Mission and Strategy. This Policy supports that aim by providing comprehensive information about the employment of University staff.

2. Scope

- 2.1 This Policy applies to all persons employed by the University, except the Vice-Chancellor and persons employed by the Colleges. Nothing in this Policy prevents a College of the University from making use of part or all of the Policy in establishing its own employment arrangements.

3. Definitions

- 3.1 General Staff: Persons employed under the Higher Education Industry – General Staff Award.
- 3.2 Academic Staff: Persons employed under the Higher Education Industry – Academic Staff Award.
- 3.3 Executive Staff: Persons employed under an Executive Employment Agreement (Award Free) with the University.

4. Principles

- 4.1 The University supports its employees in the conduct of their responsibilities by providing a working environment, induction and training opportunities that reflect the University's values.
- 4.2 University employees have opportunity to provide advice to the Vice-Chancellor on the terms and conditions of their employment arrangements.
- 4.3 No religious test is applied to the employment of University staff.

5. Employment

- 5.1 The Vice-Chancellor is responsible for the employment of staff employed directly by the University, and is the sole person authorised by the Council to sign employment documentation including letters of offer, employment agreements and performance reviews.
- 5.2 The Vice-Chancellor may engage an external consultant to assist with any employment procedure.
- 5.3 All employees employed directly by the University are employed under the Higher Education Industry General Staff Award (2020), the Higher Education Academic Staff Award (2020) or an Executive Employment Agreement.
- 5.4 The Vice-Chancellor must ensure a Position Description exists that describes the duties and responsibilities of each position and assigns an appropriate classification to it.

6. Classification

- 6.1 The classification of a position (whether vacant or occupied) determines the point on the salary scale at or above which the position is remunerated, provided that:
 - a) General Staff positions are classified in accordance with the Classification Definitions in Schedule B of the Higher Education Industry - General Staff Award
 - b) Academic Staff positions are classified in accordance with the Classification Definitions in Schedule B of the Higher Education Industry - Academic Staff Award
 - c) Positions that are governed by an Executive Employment Agreement without reference to an award are not required to be classified under this Policy.
- 6.2 The decision on the classification or reclassification of a position is made by the Vice-Chancellor.
- 6.3 In classifying or reclassifying a position, consideration must be given to the following principles and processes:
 - a) Job analysis: clarification and documentation of the role by a systematic analysis and evaluation of the knowledge and skills required, task complexity, judgement, independence, problem solving and decision accountability
 - b) Relative work value: comparison of the relative worth of the position with other positions in the University, taking into account the knowledge, judgement and accountability required in performing the job
 - c) Classification Definitions: Comparison of the duties and responsibilities of the position description with the Classification Definitions provided within the applicable award.
- 6.4 The classification process may include comparison with typical duties to test that the position is recognised as being equal to the majority of positions at one work value level and that it is of a higher work value level than all positions at lower work value levels.

- 6.5 Employees may routinely be required to undertake some duties normally expected of positions classified at lower levels in the structure and may occasionally be required to undertake duties at a higher level in the structure.
- 6.6 Employees are employed to perform the duties specified in a position description. In determining the classification or reclassification of a position, the capabilities and skills, personal performance, length of service, or salary-related issues of a particular individual occupying the position, are not considered.
- 7. Review of Classification
- 7.1 The duties and responsibilities assigned to an employee are closely related to the classification of the position currently occupied by the employee. If there is a significant increase in the work value of the position, the classification may be reviewed.
- 7.2 A position is reclassified in recognition of a significant change in the work value of the position, not as a reward to which an incumbent is entitled after a given period in a particular grade.
- 7.3 An employee may submit an application for reclassification to their supervisor. It is the employee's responsibility to ensure that the application addresses the criteria of this Policy in relation to classification of positions.
- 7.4 An employee may only submit an application for reclassification once in every 12-month period, unless extraordinary conditions have impacted on their position and significantly changed its work value.
- 7.5 The supervisor reviews the application to ensure that the employee's description of their duties is an accurate representation of what is required of the position. The supervisor must complete this review within 14 days of receipt of the application.
- 7.6 If the supervisor endorses the application, the supervisor refers the application to the Vice-Chancellor.
- 7.7 The Vice-Chancellor reviews the application and assesses it against the criteria of this Policy and the budgetary implications, decides whether to approve or reject the application and advises the applicant within 14 days of receipt of the application.
- 7.8 If an employee's position is reclassified through this process, the reclassification takes effect from the date of the Vice-Chancellor's decision.
- 7.9 An applicant may lodge an appeal in accordance with the Appeals Policy for a review of a decision on the grounds that the process of this Policy was not observed. If the employee's position is reclassified following an Appeal, the reclassification is back-dated to the date of the Vice-Chancellor's initial decision on the application, or three months from the date of the initial application, whichever is the earlier.
- 8. Salary Scales
- 8.1 Schedule A: Salary Scale to this Policy sets out the minimum salary scales applied under this Policy to meet the minimum terms and conditions specified by the Fair Work Act and the applicable award as follows:

- a) General staff positions are paid according to the salary scale, or at a higher rate as decided by the Vice-Chancellor
- b) Academic staff positions are paid according to the salary scale, or at a higher rate as decided by the Vice-Chancellor; terms and conditions specific to an academic appointment such as research leave are negotiated on an individual basis and inserted into individual employment agreements
- c) Executive staff positions are not included on the salary scale, and are paid according to their individual employment agreements, as decided by the Vice-Chancellor
- d) Casual staff are paid at the base salary of the appropriate classification level a plus casual loading of 25% as stipulated in the relevant award
- e) Academic service providers are paid according to the rates in the University Salary Schedule.

8.2 The salary scale must ensure that pay points within a level correspond with the Position Classification Standards Schedule contained in the relevant award.

8.3 The Vice-Chancellor is responsible for approval or amendment of Schedule A: Salary Scale, and may increase the Salary Scale at any time. Any increases to the Salary Scale apply automatically to all employees employed under this Policy.

8.4 The Vice-Chancellor must review Schedule A: Salary Scale annually no earlier than 1 August and no later than 31 October each year. The review must:

- a) consider any changes to the Awards made on 1 July each year
- b) review changes to the cost of living and relevant benchmarks such as salaries at comparable organisations
- c) incorporate consultation with employees employed under this Policy, including an opportunity for employees or employee representatives to meet with the Vice-Chancellor and submit any request in relation to the Salary Scale.

8.5 The University Secretary is responsible for publishing the outcome from the annual salary review in an updated version of Schedule A that includes any revisions to be implemented on 1 January the following year.

9. Performance Review

9.1 Performance reviews are conducted annually for all University employees (other than casual staff) using the template authorised by the Vice-Chancellor.

9.2 Performance reviews must include an opportunity for a face-to-face meeting between the employee and the employee's supervisor for the purpose of reviewing the employee's performance against the position description and key performance indicators for the period since the last performance review was conducted, and to agree key performance indicators for the next year.

9.3 A performance review may include a recommendation to the Vice-Chancellor for review of the classification of a position or the promotion of an employee as provided for by this Policy.

- 9.4 At the conclusion of the performance review, the employee's supervisor must provide a copy of the review to the Operations Manager for archiving in employment records.

10. Promotion

- 10.1 Promotion is movement of an employee to a higher salary increment within an existing classification level. An employee may only be moved to the next classification level when a review of classification results in the employee's position being assigned a higher classification level.
- 10.2 Promotion is the result of an assessment of an employee's performance in relation to the key responsibilities in a position description, key performance indicators, and other criteria used in performance reviews.
- 10.3 Promotion may only be approved by the Vice-Chancellor when an employee has, over the preceding twelve months:

- 11.2 This policy applies to the recruitment and selection of all employees of the University.
- 11.3 Equal Opportunity
- 11.3.1 The University values diversity and therefore ensures that its recruitment practices encourage a diverse and competitive pool of applicants. - 11.4 Procedure

It is expected that an employee who wishes to apply for a position in another University department, discusses their desire to apply with their supervisor prior to submitting an application.
- 11.4.2 An internal applicant will not necessarily succeed over an external applicant. Each applicant will be assessed based on merit, suitability for the requirements of the role, and cultural fit to the University. All applicants will be treated with the same level of professionalism and respect, regardless of current circumstances.

- 11.4.3 Recruitment of any vacancies must be approved by the Vice-Chancellor, prior to advertising either internally or externally.

 - 11.5.3 Where there are disclosable court outcomes listed on a potential candidate's or existing employee's Nationally Coordinated Criminal History Check, the Vice-Chancellor must be informed.  - 11.6.2 For designated employees, the University pays the initial and subsequent renewal fees.
 - 11.6.3 It is the designated employee's responsibility to keep their WWCC details up to date (e.g., home address) and to renew their WWCC when required. These actions are done by the employee via the WWCC Victoria website not via or by the University.
- 11.7 Both the police clearance and WWCC are securely stored in the employee certification section of the University's employment records.
- 12. Verification of qualifications
 - 12.1 The University may request candidates for employment or new employees to provide evidence of their professional and academic qualifications for verification as a condition of their employment.
- 13. Overtime
 - 13.1 Overtime may be requested by an employee or a supervisor as determined by the employee's employment agreement.
 - 13.2 Overtime may only be undertaken and remunerated if the overtime was approved in advance of the hours worked:

It may be taken in a continuous 10-day period, separate periods of one or more days or any separate periods to which the employee and the University agree.
- 14.8.2 This type of leave is available in full on commencement of employment with the University, but does not accumulate from year to year.

 - c) it is impractical for the employee to do that thing outside the employee's ordinary hours of work.
- Examples might be attending court appointments or meetings with the police.

- 15.6 An employee working under a flexible work arrangement must be able to carry out their work as efficiently and effectively as under standard working arrangements. A flexible work arrangement is not considered an appropriate substitute for dependent care, though it may assist with care arrangements.
- 15.7 An employee's flexible work arrangement must be reviewed by the employee's supervisor and the Vice-Chancellor annually or, as required, if concerns are raised regarding the impact of the arrangement on the quality of the employee's work.

16. Remote Working or Working from Home

- 17.5 Service which has been paid out by another institution is recognised but accrued entitlements from this service are not credited towards the employee's leave balance. Only accrued entitlements from this service that have not been paid out may be credited towards the employee's leave balance.

- 17.6 Full particulars of all service and any long service leave or pay in lieu taken or received must be disclosed before appointment to the University, and particulars are subject to verification by the other institution.
- 17.7 Employees with recognised service for long service leave purposes from another institution may not take their accrued long service leave until they have completed three years of service with the University of Divinity and a total of ten years of continuous service.
